Subject: Combination Food Items in the School Breakfast Program

This Notice serves to remind you that combination food items served for breakfast, such as breakfast burritos or fruit turnovers, are only allowed to count for two food items, regardless of how large or how many food items the product contains.

Example:

A company that produces a certain fruit turnover claims that their product satisfies the requirements for ½ cup fruit and two servings of bread. You may only count the fruit turnover as two bread servings or as a fruit and a bread. To complete the reimbursable meal pattern, you would need to add a fruit serving or another bread serving to the menu, depending upon how you chose to credit the turnover.
